

Dear veterans, families and friends,

The mission of the Illinois Women's Military and Civilian Memorial (IWMCM) is to make visible the contributions of Illinois women, both military and civilian, who served with and in support of the armed services.

A significant part of this project is to establish a registry of current and former Illinois women who served their country from the time of the Civil war to the present. Illinois historical records about these women are non-existent. An example of one of "Illinois' Own" is Jennie Hodgers, also known as Albert D.J. Cashier, who served during the Civil War.

You can remember and honor the women of your family and raise funds for the IWMCM through a "Special" event. This event can take place in your home, in your garden, at a park or at a community building, wherever you choose to bring together veterans, family, friends and acquaintances in support of this project.

Please contact us at 309-451-4896 ,or email pam@iwcm.org if you have questions.
